The fusion Legislature passed 800 bills.

The lower house of the Oklahoma Legislature has passed a bill prohibiting the manufacture or giving away of cigarettes or cigarette paper in the Territory under penalty of a $500 fine, one half of which is to go to the informer.

England and Russia, says a New York Exchange, both fear that the civilization of China would develop a political power in Asia dangerous to their predatory schemes. It is disgraceful to the white race that these Powers should obstruct the march of humanity among the benighted because of their own comparatively petty interests.

At the Bordeaux exhibition the special feature will be the largest bottle ever made. It will be 115 feet high and divided into stories, in the lowest of which there will be a restaurant; a winding staircase will lead up the neck to a kiosque, taking the place of the cork, where there will be room for thirty-five persons at a time to sit and look over the exhibition grounds and the city.

The following is the total net receipts of cotton at all ports since Sept. 1st 1894: Galveston, 1,564,9.0; New Orleans, 2,308,792; Mobile, 232,957; Savannah, 866,281; Charleston, 409,675; Wilmington, 228,000; Norfolk, 430,147; Baltimore, 103,050; New York 167,101; Boston, 249,905; Newport News, 31,226; Philadelphia, 74,044; West Point, 264,102; Brunswick, 94,217; Velasco, 592; Port Royal, 138,083. Total, 7,163,141.

It isn't safe to beli ve reports of the death of Chinese Generals or Admirals, unless accompanied by a duly attested coroner's certificate. Two or three of these Chinese Generals who had been beheaded by order of the Government, afterwards turned up as much alive as they ever were, and now Admiral Ting, who was reported to have committed suicide after the loss of his fleet at Wei Hai Wei, seems to have played a trick by boxing up something else, which received the posthumous courtesies intended for him, while he was smuggled away.

Acre for acre the South can produce, says the Wilmington Star, a larger average yield of corn than the West, and if proper attention be given to the culture she can do the same on wheat and oats, while there is no comparison between the two sections as growers of grass, vegetables or fruits. When the South had 10,000,000 of people she raised 358,000,000 bushels of corn, while in 1890 with double the population she raised 483,000,000 bushels. If she had kept up the same proportion as in 1860 she would have raised 716,000,000 bushels, and she can do that and more.

Bradstreet's of last week says the improvement in general trade is more marked, but not general. It is more conspicuous at larger New England points—notably Boston and Providence—at New York, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Louisville and other centres along the Ohio River Valley, to St. Louis and as far West as Kansas City. Similar reports come from Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the first named announcing that smaller quantities of four per cent. money are being offered, the banks working steadily towards five per cent. basis, demand for loans continuing to improve, and reserves being lower than for a year past.

There is a place near Glasgow, Scotland, where a railway track runs for some distance beside the fence of a lunatic asylum. Not long ago some workmen were busy repairing the bed of the railroad, when an inmate of the asylum approached one of the laborers, and, from his position on the inner side of the inclosure, began a somewhat personal conversation: Inmate—Hard work that! Laborer—Troth an' it is. Inmate—Whit pay dae ye git? Laborer—Sixteen bob a week. Inmate—Are ye mairrit? Laborer—I am, worse luck!—and have six children. A pause; then: Inmate—I'm thinking, ma man, ye're on the wrang side o' the fence.

The light houses of the world number more than 7,000. The United States has over 1,300 houses and as many posts. The latter are simpler in construction and not very expensive, since they are maintained on shore. The annual appropriation for their keeping is now nearly $4,000,000. Kerosene oil is that which has been adopted by the light house board as the luminant, though gas and, to a limited extent, electricity, have been given a trial. Gas is being used only at Alexandria, Va., and Newport, Mass. Kerosene is considered the best and the cheapest. It is ever reliable. Electricity will no doubt be adopted when Congress can appropriate the money.

Anomalous as it may appear, says the Washington Post, American cloth is being sold in the English markets, and right in the centre of the English cloth manufacturing districts. United States Consul Meeker, who has reported the fact to the State Department, says this seems to justify the predictions made at the time of the passage of the Wilson tariff act. He states that a representative of an American house has been buying English cloth in England and has at the same time been selling American cloth there. The American cloth is woolen stuff, suitable for coatings and men's suitings, selling at from 50 to 60 cents per yard. The English merchants pronounce it to be superior cloth for the grade made of short wool, and cannot see how it can be produced and sold for the price.

The probable effect of the opening of the Chicago Drainage Canal upon the water level of the great lakes is up for discussion again, notes the New York Tribune. The Chicago engineers declare that at the most it will not lower the lake level more than three inches. But Professor G. Frederick Wright, of Oberlin College, an acknowledged authority on the subject, says that the canal will ultimately divert ten per cent. of the water that now passes over Niagara; and in the late summer and autumn this will seriously interfere with navigation. As a preventive measure, he suggests that a dam be constructed across the lower end of Lake Superior at the "Soo," which will raise the level of that lake two feet and store enough water during the rainy season to supply the lower lakes during the late summer and fall.

AN OPEN LETTER

From W. R. Henry to ex-United States Senator M. W. Ransom, now Minister to Mexico.

BRUTUS:—"I do believe these applauses are
For new honors that are heaped on Cæsar."
CASSIUS:—"Why, man, he doth bestride the narrow world
Like a Colossus, and we petty men
Walk under his huge legs, and peep about
To find ourselves dishonorable graves.
Age, thou art sham'd,
Rome thou hast lost the breed of noble bloods,
When went there by an age since the great flood,
But it was fam'd with more than one man?
Now is it Rome and room enough
When there is in it but one only man."

HENDERSON. N. C., Feb. 28, 1895.

SENATOR M. W. RANSOM,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—I have a letter this morning from a distinguished North Carolinian now in Washington, to whom I wrote a few days ago, requesting him to see you and to learn positively what you proposed to do with my application for Federal office. His reply is before me. He says:

"To be perfectly candid with you, I do not think there is any chance for your appointment. Senator Ransom says he has done everything in his power for you and that he will continue to do his best for you, but sees no chance to get you an appointment. To be perfectly candid with you, I will say that I do not think there is any chance for your appointment. Your services to the party entitle you to a place and I will aid you in any way I can."

In a letter to you on March 1st I said "I desire to be just. Please answer this question: Why have I been selected for sacrifice? The most ordinary justice gives me the right to ask, and I demand to know the reason, for my non-appointment." To this letter you did not reply. On March 7th I sent you a copy of the letter I now publish, fearing you might be called away before I could secure publication, and knowing that if I sent you a copy I could publish my letter at my convenience.

You say you see no chance for my appointment.

Two years ago I placed in your hands, at your suggestion, my papers of endorsement for the Consul Generalship at Rio de Janiro or some other place. This morning they came back to me. They are now before me. It is necessary to an appreciation of what I am to say that I call your attention to the magnitude of my endorsement.

The printed index to my papers will show that I was endorsed in the most unqualified terms by the State Democratic Executive Committee, the N. C. Members of Congress, the President of the State Democratic Clubs, by both branches of the Legislature, by all the State officers, by the President and ex-President of the University, by the Electors at Large, the District Electors, the Speaker and ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Judges of the Supreme Coart, Judges of the Superior Courts, the Members of the Railroad Commission, Presidents of Trunk Line Railroads in N. C., by letters from most of the Editors of the State, by editorials in all of the principal papers of N. C., by three hundred letters from prominent Democrats of the State, by petitions from most of the counties, by petitions from the Tobacco Boards of Trade of North Carolina and Virginia, by petitions from Petersburg, Richmond, Lynchburg and Danville; by letters from Senators Walthall and George, of Mississippi; by a letter from Senator Vance, and by a letter from ex-Gov. Jarvis, afterwards Senator. It is proper that I should set forth the substance of a few of my endorsements, which indicate the character of the whole:

Hon. Elias Carr, Governor of North Carolina, wrote on Nov. 23rd, 1894:

"Mr. Henry is a lawyer of ability and after fourteen years practice at the bar has added to his justly earned reputation as a lawyer, that of being a powerful campaign orator. He has repeatedly canvassed the State in the interest of the Democratic party. In 1882, '84, '88 '90, '92 and '94 he made each year a canvass of the State in the interest of Democracy and wherever and whenever the party needed him he cheerfully gave his services to the best interests of his party. Thus far he has had no recognition, when other men have been appointed whose labors for the party could not equal Mr. Henry's. If party service and ability and zeal are to be considered when Federal patronage is to be bestowed, then I feel that he is justly entitled to some position under the National Government commensurate with his ability and labors."

Hon. Chas. M. Stedman wrote on Dec. 14th, 1894:

"I take the liberty to add my name to the list of those who think Mr. Henry is worthy of a much higher place than the one named (Genoa.) I have known him well for years. He is eminent as a lawyer and orator, is a gentleman of the highest moral character and deserves, by virtue of his merit and of his political services, a high reward. It is strange to me that men like Mr. Henry (and he is the most conspicuous example I can recall to mind) should be passed over. No name has been suggested from the State of North Carolina more worthy of recognition than that of Mr. Henry."

The Hon. A. C. Avery, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, wrote on Dec. 17, 1894:

"The leading men of the Democratic party throughout the State of North Carolina stand ready to bear testimony to the value of Mr. Walter R. Henry's services as a canvasser in every campaign for 14 years past, and to join in recommending his appointment to some place that would prove a fit recognition and reward for what he has done. Mr. Henry is an eloquent and powerful public speaker, a gentleman of pleasing manners, of extensive attainments and of high character. I feel confident that he would represent the Government creditably in any position to which he may be assigned."

The Hon. Walter Clark, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, wrote on March 23, 1892:

"You have just made one of the most brilliant and effective campaigns I have ever known. Your magnetic qualities as an orator, your extensive attainments as a lawyer, and your high character as a man entitle you to recognition at the hands of the incoming Administration."

Dr. J. H. Tucker, President N. C. State Medical Society, said in 1892:

"Mr. Henry is a gentleman of high and spotless character, a lawyer of recognized ability, and a speaker and orator of power and brilliancy. He has been a life long Democrat and for ten years past has given his time and talents freely to the party."

Mr. Melville Dorsey, a prominent Democratic leader, said:

"W. R. Henry is in the prime of life, is a student, a scholar and an orator. He is a member of the Supreme Court Bar of the United States, and a Democrat of the broadest kind. In the last campaign he was one of the most powerful speakers we had on the stump in North Carolina."

Dr. W. T. Cheatham, Ex-President N. C. State Medical Society, said in 1892:

"Mr. Henry is a gentleman of culture and distinguished ability, a learned lawyer, and as a teacher and defender of Democratic principles is the peer of any man in the State."

"Mr. Henry's speech on Friday, was a powerful and effective one, full of zeal, thoroughly posted and thrillingly eloquent, he is one of the most brilliant canvassers of the State."—Henry Blount in Wilson Mirror.

"For earnestness, power, eloquence and logic, the speech of Mr. W. R. Henry at Halifax was simply grand, and places him by the side of North Carolina's greatest orators."—Dr. Geo. E. Matthews in Henderson Gold Leaf.

"After Henry's first speech in Scotland Neck there was a universal and enthusiastic demand for his return. Arrangement was made for the 29th of October. On that day he arose before an audience of six thousand, and said: "This is the proudest day of my life." He had reason for feeling so, for it was the grandest demonstration made in the State, except the one in honor of Stevenson at Winston. For three hours Henry spoke with an eloquence that rivals that of any man who has ever graced the hustings in North Carolina. It was a great speech and met every demand of the magnificent demonstration."—Hon. E. E. Hilliard in the Democrat.

Of my speech in Winston in 1892 the Sentinel said:

"Henry's speech was a gem of logic in a golden setting of conviction. He spoke three hours in the Opera House to a very large crowd. He is an immense man physically and mentally. There is probably not a more logical and eloquent speaker on the Democratic stump in this campaign. Prominent citizens crowded around Mr. Henry to offer their congratulations."

Hon. S. A. Ashe, editor News and Observer, said editorially in March, 1893:

"Walter R. Henry is seeking the position of Consul General at Rio. Mr. Henry deserves well at the hands of the Democratic party in North Carolina and of the new administration. He is a man of unusual ability, of great powers, of high character, and an indefatigable worker. Among the many who did such valiant service during the last campaign, Mr. Henry took rank with the first."

The following will indicate the sentiment of the leaders of the Democratic party, of North Carolina, in regard to my continued non-appointment:

Hon. James H. Pou, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, wrote on March 4th, 1895:

"During 1894 I noticed his course closely. He made an extensive canvass of the State. I had reports from every place and I can say unqualifiedly that his canvass was one of great power and effect. The appointment of no man would give more pleasure to the Democrats of North Carolina than would the appointment of Mr. Henry. The universal sentiment of the Democrats of the State (as far as I can hear) is that he deserves a good appointment at the hands of the party, and surprise is expressed at his not having received it."

Hon. S. A. Ashe, one of the ablest Democratic editors in the State wrote on Dec. 22nd, 1894:

"You ought to have been among the first whose merit and services were to be recognized by the administration. That you have been 'stood aside' so long is a great injustice and I have never comprehended either the 'why or the wherefore.'"

"Mr. Henry has been expecting an appointment under the Administration for two years, but as yet has been disappointed. His many friends in North Carolina—indeed the whole State—think that he has been treated badly. He ought to have been given some recognition for his hard work in the various campaigns through which he has labored for the Democratic party. The Democrat hopes that he may now be successful in securing a good appointment. If work is ever to count for anything Mr. Henry certainly deserves a good place."—Scotland Neck Democrat, Dec. 20, 1894.

"If hard work and faithful service to the party are any recommendation, no man in the State is more deserving of recognition than Mr. Henry. For several campaigns he has been in the forefront of the battle, and it is no credit to the Administration that his claims have been so long neglected."—The Eastern Reflector, January, 1895.

"Mr. Henry has performed enough service for the Democratic party to give him a good claim upon it. He has not only the merit, from a partisan's standpoint, which not only warrants, but suggests his recognition, but he has capacity for public place, and it is a trifle discouraging to party workers to see him overlooked while party favors go to undeservers. It is high time his claims had due attention."—Charlotte Observer, Dec. 1894.

Says one of the most distinguished Democrats in the State:

"If you are not appointed it will be an exhibition of base ingratitude on the part of party leaders."

Says another:

"It is a great outrage that something has not been done for you before this, and I most earnestly hope something will be accomplished at an early day."

Says another:

"I have felt all along that an injustice had been done you, and others given good positions who had no claims upon the party comparable to yours."

Another gentleman, one of the most prominent Democrats in the Western portion of the State, declares:

"It is a shame—an outrage—that in the distribution of patronage you have remained unappointed. You have not been surpassed by any man in your faithful and efficient work for the party. I still hope that justice may be done you."

One of the best know Democrats in North Carolina says:

"You have been very greatly wronged, and worse than that "you have been wounded in the house of your friends," (so called.) Senator Ransom, who worked to secure positions for persons not a hundredth part as worthy as you, and secured them, too, could have long since given you a good and lucrative place if he had desired to do so."

I have been practically deprived of two years of my life by relying upon your promises. Through you the golden apples have turned to ashes upon my lips. I am told that you will continue to do your best for me. I am pointed to the possibility of a vacancy. I do not look to you longer for anything. After two years waiting I refuse to rest any hope upon the possibility of a vacancy. Under all the circumstances the suggestion that I should do so is but little short of an insult.

I am told that you see no chance for my appointment while hundreds and thousands of Republicans retain their positions in the service. On January 23, 1895, I wrote you: "There is a Chief of Division in the Sixth Auditor's office, Treasury department, filled for fifteen years, by a Republican by the name of Burbank. My informant says also that Postmaster General Bissell appointed a Republican to a $2,000 place the other day and Mr. Carlisle gave a New Hampshire black Republican a $2 500 place recently."

Many positions in the Foreign service are still filled by Republican Consuls some of whom were appointed by Grant, Garfield and other Republican Presidents.

As late as January the 17th, '95, I called your attention to the following Consulates filled by Republicans: Osaka and Hiogo, appointed in '89. Nagasaki, appointed in '90. Nassau, appointed in '77. Dunfermline, appointed in '89. Plauen, appointed in '89. Genoa, appointed in '83. Buenos Ayres, appointed in '74. Brussels, appointed in '89, Canton, appointed in '82. Ningpo, appointed in '70. Bristol, appointed in '91. Goderich, appointed in '82, and Barcelona appointed in '90. All these were Republican incumbents.

A place cannot be found for me, but one was found for a negro as Consul to Calais, France; another for a negro as Minister to Bolivia; another for a negro as Recorder of the District of Columbia, one of the best offices in the Government while many negroes are retained in the Departments, and a negro was recently appointed Consul to Santos, Brazil.

A place cannot be found for me, but surely a place could have been found, this being a Democratic Administration, if you had not taken an office equal to seven $2,500 Consulates for yourself. You promised me a four thousand dollar Consulate two years ago next April, or to speak with absolute accuracy you told me to give you my papers. You took charge of them, and though you kept them in your desk about seven weeks, until a tobacco drummer from Danville, Va., without political prestige, was appointed Consul General to Rio, for which I was endorsed, you carried them to the State Department and afterwards, on several occasions, asked me "if a $4,000 Consulate would be sufficient," remarking that "Mr. Quincy liked me very much," that a "smaller Consulate would not do," and that you "would see to the matter of climate." Your warm inquiries about my little children in this connection capped the assurance of an appointment and cemented my faith in your sincerity.

You told me after that in Weldon that I "would be appointed," and said: "Go ahead, Walter, and do your duty, and it will be alright."

Portesting all the time that you were doing everything in your power for me, you told me last summer, coming from our audience with the President, that you had never before that day "really pressed my claims."

The following gentlemen, among others, had been appointed from North Carolina before you ever "really pressed my claims for recognition:" Kerr Craig, $3,600; Josephus Daniels, $2,250; then $3,000; G. W. Sanderlin, $2,250; A. D. Jones, $8,000; Eben Alexander, $6,500; T. R. Jernigan, $8,000; Paul Faison, $3,000; W. P. Roberts, $4,000; William Little, $3,500; W. H. S. Burgwyn, $3,000; George McCorkle, $2,000; Mr. Shaw, $2,000; Pendleton King, $2,250; W. E. Faison, $2,250; J. C. L. Gudger, $2,000; Peter Wilson, $2,000; W. R. Cox, $6,000. Not to speak of the three four and six thousand dollar appointments in North Carolina.

Protesting you were doing your best for me, you had Mr. Gudger appointed to a $2,500 position in the Department of Justice. I had asked for a place in that Department. I have been told that Mr. Gudger was one of your strongest opponents in the West. He announced in the papers, speaking of his appointment, that the office "sought the man and not the man the office."

I find nothing in the career or party work of sentiment in behalf of either of the gentlemen above named that entitles him to preeedence over me, certainly not to the extent of a denial of just recognition.

You have never given me any reason for my non-appointment, nor for the policy of not really pressing my claim until last summer. But the reason is

"So clear, so shining and so evident
That it will glimmer through a blind man's eye."

You remember you complained to me one night about Vance being a Republican county. If I had lived in a county that was expected to return a Democratic member to the Legislature I would, no doubt, have received recognition as soon as any one of the distinguished gentlemen above named.

The truth is you have sacrificed me to your own plans, and you must entertain some personal hate also, for you have been so heartless.

During the past two years, though I have written you many letters, you have never answered one, nor have you had your two Government paid clerks to do so.

One of the chief badges of a gentleman is to answer a gentleman's letter.

A public servant—a statesman—systematically fails to answer letters, either because he is too indolent or indifferent to the commonest dictates of courtesy, or because he is afraid to commit himself to paper—appreciating the latitude allowed by verbal communication.

"A formal deed with seal and signature,
A spectre this from which you shrink, afraid.
The word its life resigneth in the pen,
Leather and wax usurp the mastery then."

Though his right arm hangs shattered and unless by his side, ex-Senator Thomas J. Jarvis never fails to answers letters written him. And the last time I saw the great Zebulon B. Vance I looked down from the Senate gallery upon his disease stricken form and hair grown gray in the faithful service of his people—he was writing a letter, no doubt to one of his constituents. He was holding the pen in his trembling right hand, and vainly trying to steady it with his left. What a lesson for the courtly Ransom!

You are a great man. You are one of the greatest men I think I have ever known. This is true. Your smile is like a benediction; you have the manners of Chesterfield; the majestic bearing of a Roman Senator; the form of Appollo; the eloquence of Demosthenes; the magnetism of Mesmer; the tongue of Lysias and the hypocrisy of Mephistopheles.

"Full of honors, titles, flattery, fame," you nevertheless remind me of the words of Queen Katherine to Griffith, touching Cardinal Wolsey:

"He would say untruths and be ever double
Both in his words and meaning.
His promises were mighty,
But his performances—nothing."

Like Mibrabeau, to quote the words of Necker:

"You can descend with the greatest facility into Inferno, and rise without effort to the brow of Olympus."

I have for many years been your friend. I have been an ardent admirer of your genius. I have believed in your patriotism.

When in the last campaign you thrilled your friends by your splendid and impassioned declaration that,

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold,

I thought it came from your heart.

I was warned by many good people against putting faith in your promises. I repudiated their suggestions. I realize that up to the recent past I had only known Dr. Jekyll, I am now acquainted with Mr. Hyde.

According to the spirit of Jeffersonian Democracy, office ought to be given to those who merit it by work for the party.

Under our Institutions the Federal patronage due a State goes to the dominant party to help perpetuate it in power.

To the extent that it is controlled by any one man for his own purposes to that extent it is a gross injustice to party workers and a blow at the life of the party itself.

The Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee of North Carolina in a public address declared nearly two years ago that I was "one of three men, (he named) in North Carolina, who ought to be appointed before all others, by this Administration."

I have not asked or expected office at your hands as a personal favor.

I asked for a place because the Democratic party said I deserved it, expected me to receive it, and since you have controlled the patronage expected it to come through you.

Your disregard of the wishes of my endorsers and of the sentiment of the Democratic party of North Carolina in my behalf is one of the best evidences that you have long possessed power dangerous to a free people. You have made their most powerful letters appear as blank paper; you have laughed at the appeals of committees; you have paid little or no attention to the words of the press. Your will has been the law.

You have been allowed by Mr. Cleveland to control the patronage of North Carolina because you have been faithful to his plans and policy. You have distributed that patronage, in many instances, with too much regard to the retention of your seat in the Senate and too little for party workers' merit, and the wishes of your constituents.

Because of a revolution in this State, in part owing to the disgust of the people at your methods and their determination to put an end to your omnipotence, commonly called "Bossism," you lost your seat in the Senate, and now the President sends you abroad as a substantial reward for your fidelity to him; for being, says the Washington Post, of the 16th in a laudatory notice,

"A steadfast friend of the President in the Senate, even going to the extent of voting for the repeal of the Sherman Silver Purchasing Law, against the sentiment of his (your) State."

The President has crowned you with the mission to the Court of the Montezumas, but you will go there without the endorsement of three-fourths the population of your State.

It was peculiarly meet and proper and entirely to be expected that your confirmation as Minister should be moved in the Senate by John Sherman, the arch-enemy of silver, your State and the South. They are homely sayings, but true, "straws show which way the wind blows" and "birds of a feather will flock together.'

Having denounced Grover Cleveland at Chicago, you were dubious about approaching him in the early part of the Administration; how comes it that he allows you to control the patronage of this State and then gives you one of the greatest offices in the Government, while the patriot Vance, whose virtues you could eloquently eulogize, but which you have not quite often enough imitated, was in ill favor and without influence at the White House?

Thinking that some personal or political enemy might have libeled me to the State Department or the President, I wrote a letter to the First Assistant Secretary of State, Hon. Edwin F. Uhl, a few days ago and requested him to confer with the President and the Secretary of State, as to whether aught had been advanced against me personally or otherwise. From his very kind and courteous reply I quote as follows:

"I have much pleasure in assuring you that nothing whatever, in the slightest degree, reflecting upon you has ever been represented to this Department. But as evidence of the high esteem in which you are held by the President, I may mention your appointment by him as Consul to Curacoa, and his regret that you could not see your way clear to an acceptance of the same.

I was appointed in April last Consul to Curacoa. This was indeed a high trust. I am aware that men take Consulates and defray their own expenses, for the honor attendant. But I was not asking for a Consulate for glory. Nothing could have induced me to take my wife and children to that equatorial, fever-stricken climate. The compensation was not sufficient to induce me to go alone. After I had declined this appointment you declared it would have been "madness" in me to take it. The State Press ridiculed it as unworthy my acceptance. The New Berne Journal said:

"The place is not of the rank to which the gentleman was entitled by his splendid services in the last campaign, but it is a recognition of his claims and may lead to something better."

It was a distinct recognition of my claims. My declination was endorsed and commended by the party and its leaders. I was promised something better. How could it be honestly withheld? To deny or prevent my appointment to another place, instead of the one it was conceded I could not accept, is properly denominated political robbery.

You have spoken in my behalf, and apparently most earnestly and powerfully. You have spoken eloquently for others. You have so directed matters that they have been appointed while I haven ignored. Results speak louder than words.

The New York Times says:

"The scourge is lifted, nothing is left of the Fifty-third Congress but a sad name. It is dead and the country is glad."

You have been as false to me as the late Democratic Congress, barring a few good men, has been false to the people.

You must be blinded by your vanity, or you would see that when you took a great Mission, to my exclusion, asserting that you had done the best you could for me, you committed an act that bears such semblance of bad faith that even your friends cannot defend it.

Having assumed charge of my papers and become my representative to secure office, in the State Department if possible, you could not, with honor, take a place for yourself, especially in the State Department, knowing such action would swell North Carolina's quota beyond the banks, and prevent my official recognition.

To say that you have influence sufficient to have conferred upon you a great Mission, with or without the asking, and not enough to obtain for me a Consular or other appointment during the past two years, is so illogical that it appears false on its face, and at all events puts an end to the absurd statement of your friends that "you have done your best for me."

Says the New York World of Feb. 22nd:

"The haste with which Democratic politicians of high and low degree have been falling over each other in a scramble for the Mexican mission is exciting unfavorable criticism in every direction. The body of the late Minister Gray was hardly enroute from the City of Mexico before a petition was being circulated in the Senate chamber in behalf of Senator Ransom. The salary is $17,500, which amounts to more than $35,000 in silver in the City of Mexico. The petition was extensively signed on both sides of the chamber by Senators who at the same time remarked on the bad taste of the movement. Senator Hill, of New York, is said to have courteously declined to put his name to it for this reason."

If this be true, you ought to have had more consideration for me than to play upon my nerves and credulity for two years and coolly announce, at this late day, that "you see no chance for my appointment."

It is of no consequence to me whether what I say in this paper meets the approval of the State or not. It has the approval of my conscience and is necessary to my self-respect and to save me from the contempt of those who would despise me, if I bore this wrong in silence.

You stand on the mountain top, but your position and the frowns of your friends can not deter me from speaking. Your are great, but in this matter I am the stronger. I have truth, and right, and justice on my side.

"Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just,
And he but naked, though locked up in steel,
Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted."

I do not ask for, and would not value, the friendship of any man who endorses your course towards me.

The sum of the whole matter is this: By the unanimous voice of the Democratic party of North Carolina it was declared that I deserved recognition, and the party demanded it. In obedience thereto you took my papers and promised that I should be appointed. You have told my friends, and myself, positively, many times, that you "would do your best to secure my appointment." Have you done so? You have had the power. You have given place to others. For yourself, you take the remainder. You have sacrificed me. The comforts and pleasures and honors that would have come to me through proper appointment, you will take with you to Mexico, as a small part of your great Mission. But you will do so through infidelity to a former friend, and at the expense of your violated promise.

In conclusion let me say, I am comforted by the words of Heinzelman:

"Be poor while others grow rich by fraud and disloyalty;
Be without place or power, while others buy their way upward;
Bear the pain of disappointed hopes
While others gain the accomplishment of theirs'
By flattery and servility;
Forego the gracious pressure of the hand,
For which others cringe and crawl;
Seek a friend, and your daily bread,
And if thus you grow gray with unbleached honor,
Bless God and die!"

—RAMBLER BICYCLE.—

Messrs. A. J. Pemberton and Co.,

GENTLEMEN:

Replying to your favor of recent date in regard to the "Rambler Bicyle" will say: The Rambler is as near perfect in every respect as it is possible to make a wheel.

I have owned five (5) different makes of wheels (among the number was a Columbia) and I have ridden many more, but the Rambler is the easiest running and the most comfortable wheel to ride on that I have ever mounted. I am sure I shall never want to trade again.

Wishing you all the success you surely deserve in selling the best wheel on earth, I remain

Yours very truly,
E. M. SHEETZ.

A. J. Pemberton & Co.,

GENTLEMEN:

Regarding your query as to "How I like the Rambler Bicycle," I need only state my experience. Last June I bought a "Columbia," and after riding it two months, I sold it and purchased a "Rambler."

I can unhesitatingly say that the Rambler is the best I have ever mounted, and really did not know what riding was until I had my Rambler.

Yours,
I. B. ROSENTHAL.

A GOLDBUG FALLACY.

Of a piece with the cry that what the country wants is a rest from legislation, when in truth it is in the direst need of the undoing of bad legislation, is that other foolish claim that the money question is not a politieal question. That is to say, the beneficiaries of a high tariff, for example, which was imposed by legislation, used to declare that the country had had its fill of tariff legislation as soon as they were satisfied, and the beneficiaries of a contracted currency, secured by partisan legislation, now oppose the further use of partisan machinery for financial legislation as soon as they are satisfied. The baldest statement we have seen of this selfish view was given to a reporter of the Raleigh News and Observer, the other day at Southern Pines, by Representative Dingley, of Maine, who is wintering there. Said he:

So far as the money question is concerned that is not a political question, and should really have no place in politics. It is a scientific question, pure and simple. It should be dealt with strictly from a scientific standpoint, and taken out of politics. If there exists a necessity for a change or reform, and I confess there is, it should come through a commission of scientific financiers, international in its make up, and with a thorough scientific knowledge of national and international finances.

And yet there are men professing to be democrats who believe just what Mr. Dingley believes. We have some of them in the South. They are out of touch with the democratic party, whose fundamental doctrine is the strict construction of the Federal constitution. Apply that doctrine, and the money question is at once resolved. The Federal government, it will be seen, has nothing whatever to do with the question of whether we are to have a gold standard, or a silver standard, or gold coinage and limited silver coinage, or any other form of qualification of the duty imposed upon it to coin money, which money the Constitution declares shall be gold and silver. Its province is restricted to regulating the value of money, and this it is required to do. This it has done in establishing the ratio of sixteen ounces of silver as the equal of one ounce of gold. If this ratio has ceased to be the true one, let it be changed. The "scientific commission" might find reason for its creation in determining this detail. The larger, Constitutional question is a political question, pure and simple.

Can any one give a sound reason for gainsaying these simple propositions?

If, then, the question whether the Federal government have the right to refuse to coin one of the metals declared by the Constitution to be the only money metals, be a question of the strict or the latitudinarian construction of the Constitution, is there any difficulty in deciding where the democratic party's place is in the impending money issue? It must declare unequivocally for the unlimited coinage of both gold and silver, or it will cease to exist.

A protectionist democrat and a limited coinage democrat are equally paradoxical.

THE USE OF MONEY IN ELECTIONS.

Read the interesting article on the 4th page on "the use of money in elections." As Gov. Waller says, no one will accuse him of being either a "reformer" or a mugwump, but all who know him will enjoy his modest claim that he is "only a democrat and not quite as good as his party, either." If this evil is not checked, says the distinguished ex-Governor, "legislators will soon be bought and sold as voters now are, and men who want to be Governors and Senators, and who could not obtain such positions otherwise will only have to furnish the managers with money enough to acquire all the honors they covet."

And it will never be checked until the centralizing custom of secretly dispensing money, that has been secretly contributed, from the head of campaign committees downwards, is put a stop to.

MR. HENRY AND GENERAL RANSOM.

Elsewhere will be found the letter of Mr. W. R. Henry to ex-Senator Ransom, which, as we stated last week, Mr. Henry asks us to publish in justice to him, and which of course we do, Mr. Henry's high standing as a democrat entitling him to be heard through the Democratic press. Mr. Henry appears to have conclusively made out his case, viz: that Senator Ransom could not with propriety, under the circumstances, accept office for himself at the hands of this administration, much less seek it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

In the item elsewhere printed concerning the size of cities 100 years ago, Charleston, then one of the large cities, seems to have been omitted.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis's statement that the poor syndicaters were so frightened that they couldn't offer the government more than 104 for bonds, entitles that young gentleman to distinction as the premier chump.

Fayetteville and Albemarle Railroad.

Correspondence of the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—In turning the pages of the last report of the Railroad Commissioners, I noticed the rates of freight fixed for the "Aberdeen and Rockfish Railroad company," which now has four stations, as follows: Aberdeen, Leavitts, Hilton and Buffalo, running a distance of twelve miles or more.

This, I am sure, is the road first chartered as "the Fayetteville and Albemarle railroad company," and in the construction of which many of our best people took such an interest, contributing for the survey and profile, and endeavoring to secure the aid of Northern capital for its completion.

The Fayetteville and Albemarle Railroad was first chartered during the session of the Legislature of 1889, and again in 1891 the charter was amended so as to extend the time for beginning work, so that the charter is still in force. The distance from this place to Aberdeen is about thirty three miles but the charter authorized the road to be carried to Albemarle in Stanly County, and from Fayetteville to Goldsboro, with privilege of building branch lines, etc.

The charter is a very liberal one, in every respect, and what I desire to direct your attention to, is the possibility, or certainty of losing the benefit of this road, unless there is an effort to secure it before it is built to its proposed terminal.

The road is now called the "Aberdeen and Rockfish," and will go to the flourishing village of Hope Mills about seven miles south of Fayetteville.

The question is, can we afford to be thus cut off by a home or County enterprise as this is, which was first conceived by our own people with a view of opening the Fayetteville market to its natural and legitimate western territory?

Mr. Jno. Blue was one of the leaders of the movement when first inaugurated, and is I presume the master spirit of the present enterprise, who, I have no doubt would if properly approached with sufficient inducements held out, bring the road to Fayetteville where it was first designed to come.

Again I ask can Fayetteville afford to let this road pass us by, and cut off our Southern and Western territory, with its immense timber, and other trade producing wealths?

Very respectfully, X.

President Winston Banqueted.

Charlotte Observer.

A banquet was tendered to Dr. Winston last Friday night by the students of the University under the management of the senior class. This class entered college at the beginning of Dr. Winston's term as president. The large dining room of the Chapel Hill Hotel was filled, and the occasion was one of great enjoyment, though no stronger beverage than coffee was served. Dr. Battle was toast-master and presided gracefully, constantly enlivening the occasion with his witty sallies and humorous reminiscences. Mr. E. B. Lewis responded to the toast "Waterloo," making a comparison between that famous battle and the recent victory. Mr. Joe E. Alexander responded to "The University's Triumph," saying that it was the triumph of the whole over the part; that the University is broader than any creed, sect, faction or party. In responding to "the University and State," Prof. Williams clearly and logically set forth the principles upon which universities and university education are founded, saying that they were freedom and development and that freedom was absolutely necessary to development. Dr. Winston, in his usual happy manner, responded to "the University and State" setting forth the vital connection existing between them and the necessity of further educational development. Dr. Manning responded to "Our Presidents," paying a merited tribute to both Dr. Winston and Dr. Battle, saying that each was the fittest man for the work that confronted him. Hon. W. G. Peckham, of the New York bar, was present and being called on gave a witty speech, telling how he become interested in the University and the reason he invested money in Chapel Hill. The mandolin and banjo clubs were present and added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

TRAMPS.

"Thirty Days, Ball and Chain, Work on the Streets."

Correspondence of the Observer.]

Such is the penalty imposed in every instance upon a tramp found in, or about the city of Rahway, N. J.

The remedy worked so well, that the Mayor of Newark followed Rahways example, and now no tramp stops to rest, or "gets hungry" at either place.

Let our Mayor follow suit; if there is no town ordinance to justify it, the board of aldermen will make such an one, and order the organization of a force to use bail and chain, and work the streets with these and other like nuisances.

Let our Mayor at once have large board signs with the above penalty plainly printed thereon, placed at every railroad depot and crossing, and every approach to the town, and the tramps will then have notice and pass on, and this abominable and unmitigated nuisance will be abated.

If they persist in coming here, then enforce the penalty, and the brotherhood will soon hear of it, and shake the dust of Fayetteville off their feet, even before they get here.

Few if any, are deserving, they preferring the easy-going, vagrant life, than to work—hence they tramp from choice, rather than necessity. CITIZEN.

The Proposed Bond Issue.

MR. EDITOR:—The taxpayers would like to have some "light" on the proposed bond issue for electric light plant.

How is it to be paid for, and has the town treasury the money? If no money will have to be paid out, then why not take the surplus funds and reduce the debt of the town, thereby reducing taxation? The times are too hard to think about increasing taxation, as we are now paying a heavy water rental of twenty-five hundred dollars each year, as I have been informed, and the great majority of our people are already overburdened with taxation, and want no more debt which means nothing more nor less than increased taxation, either directly or indirectly.

Let the people hear from those who know, and are familiar with the plans of the proposed bond issue, and can show us the absolute necessity of an increase of taxation, when we shall perhaps have more to say.

Let the taxpayers know what they are doing before they are called upon to vote an increase of indebtedness—the water tax is enough, and it is doubtful if the people would willingly submit to that, at least in its present shape, if they had now to consider it. TAX-PAYER.

Thorbiskope is the name given by Mr. John E. Elliott to his new plantation near Manchester.

Bon Ami's Manchester Cullings which were crowded out of last week's issue will be found on the fourth page.

Rev. Mr. Sutton is conducting a protracted meeting at Campbellton Mission Church. He is assisted by Rev. Mr. Kendall, of Duplin.

Messrs. W. H. Newberry & Sons have added another to the industries of Fayetteville in the manufacture of spring beds and high grade mattresses.

T. C. Whitfield, the colored barber, has just had completed a handsome residence on Gillespie street. He will occupy it in a few days.

Since our last issue we have received from the Secretary of State an official list of the new Magistrates of this county. The list is exactly the same as the unofficial one we published last week.

Numbers of Northern tourists on their way home from Florida, stop over at the LaFayette every night. They all express themselves as very much pleased with our little city, but they cannot understand why there are no lights.

Fire.

Last Friday evening fire broke out in Mr. James Johnson's house on Maiden Lane, but was soon extinguished by the fire department. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. The loss was slight.

At Cottonade.

Mrs. W. A. Wright, Miss Kate Stedman, Miss Sallie Potter, Capt. J. H. Daniel and Messrs. Norwood Huske and H. H. McIlhenny came up from Wilmington yesterday and spent the day at Mr Williams's Cottonade, returning last evening.

Bishop's Visitation.

The Rt. Rev. A. A. Watson, D. D., D. C. L., Bishop of East Carolina, will make his annual visitation to Fayetteville on Sunday, the 7th of April. He will officiate at St. Joseph's (colored) Church in the morning and at St. John's in the evening of the same day—administering the holy rite of Confirmation at each service.

Married in Jail.

Joe Armstrong, a colored man, awaiting trial for assault and battery, was married in jail Friday to a young colored woman. The ceremony, which was performed by Parson Salmon, took place in the corridor of the jail, and was witnessed by a large number of people. The bride wanted to remain in jail with her husband, but he would not permit it, and after many fond embraces they parted.

E. S. Jaffray & Co.

The great house of E. S. Jaffray & Co. of New York, is in the hands of a receiver. The Atlanta Constitution's correspondent says that this is not the result of financial embarrassment atall, but of Mr. Howard Jaffray's desire to have his late father's estate settled. As our older readers know, this famous house began business in this city, in the early part of the century, as Jaffray & Crane.

Progress.

If we are to judge by the number of buildings that have been erected in this city during the past three years, Fayetteville must certainly be advancing in material development, notwithstanding the dreadful business depression that has covered this very period. Many scores of dwelling houses of a better architectural type than the average Fayetteville residence—though of course not yet approaching the best old-timers—have recently been erected here, and they are all filled as soon as completed. Surely the population must have considerably increased. At the same time all manage, somehow, to make a living. We must conclude that Fayetteville is looking up, and that it is getting ready for donning the garments of a full-grown city as soon as the business tide turns.

More Crazy Legislation.

Yesterday's Wilmington Messenger contains the following special from Raleigh:

An act of the Legislature has been discovered in the Secretary of State's office, without doubt a "sneaked in" bill, which is far-reaching and damaging. No debt can be preferred by mortgage or otherwise. It also prevents the borrowing of money on mortgage on real estate or crops by persons who are in debt to parties other than the lender. It reads as follows:

AN ACT TO REGULATE ASSIGNMENTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That all conditional sales, assignments, mortgages or deeds in trust, which are executed to secure any debt, obligation, note or bond, which give preferences to any creditor of the maker, shall be absolutely void as to existing creditors.

SEC. 2. That all laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified the 13 day of March, 1895.

Under this, among other things, no man can safely lend money upon mortgage.

Credit is one of the marked differentiations between civilization and savage life. When the 10 per cent. tax struck a death blow at that splendid development of credit, State bank issues, the way was blazed for this crazy act.

A Sudden and Melancholy Death.

Mr. Albert Jennings Pemberton, of the well-known book and music house of A. J. Pemberton & Co., of this city, passed away at 12:30 A. M., Sunday at the residence of his mother, Mrs. M. J. Pemberton, after an illness of but 24 hours, aged nearly 27 years. In his usual health on Friday, he participated in the amusement of the skating rink that evening, returned to his home, and an hour or two after was battling for life in the fatal clutch of congestion of the lungs.

The touch of death at times seems almost kindly. The babe, unsullied of the world, breathes out its frail existence as the ephemeral bud, bursting through the fresh earth, exhales its evanescent perfume, and withers in the noonday sun; the aged man, with quivering lips, smiles in the face of this "fell sergeant," and, without a tremor, "stands at the gloom-curtained door and the veil of its darkness he gathers him o'er," even as the pilgrim, wearied of the toilsome way, "wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams." But womanhood snatched away in its youthful beauty—it is as if some unhallowed force had snapped the cords which uttered sweet music; manhood, exultant in strength, fallen untimely by the way—it is as if some impious hand had dashed out the torch on the altar of exuberant life.

Mr. Pemberton was educated at Ann Arbor, Mich., and few men, so little advanced in life, were so well known throughout the State as he—prominent in the circles of society and an adept in the realm of the athlete and the sportsman. Floral tributes of exquisite design were sent from Raleigh, Wilmington and other points abroad.

The deep sympathy evoked by this sudden death was emphasized in the great concourse attending the impressive services at Hay Street Methodist Church, on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Willis, the profusion and tastefulness of friendship's offerings in flowers, and the solemn escorts of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry and the Odd Fellows—the deceased being High Priest in the Grand Encampment of the latter and Treasurer of the Lodge. May this grievous blow be tempered to the stricken ones by Divine mercy. The mother, bereft of a son's staying arm; the sisters missing his tender care; the brothers mourning a comrade and bosom friend—may God help them!

The following were the pall-bearers: Honorary—Messrs. G. A. Holderness and A. M. Fairley. Active—Messrs. W. C. McDuffie, Jr., A. J. Cook, J. L. Prior, S. H. MacRae, J. R. Williams, Eugene Gorham, M. McI. Matthews, E. Overbaugh.

A Robber on Wheels.

Friday night Capt. Flowers was making his usual round back of the stores before going home, when he heard a violent rattling of the back door of A. E. Rankin & Co's store. Capt. Flowers made directly for the spot, but when he got there all was quiet, and he saw nothing. Suspecting that the fellow was hiding in some of the stables, he summoned assistance and commenced a search. He had not been long at it when he heard something scrambling on top of a stable right over his head. He looked up and saw a fairly well dressed white man with a smutty face rising to his feet. He leveled his pistol at the fellow and told him to halt. His reply was a bantering laugh, whereupon Capt. Flowers fired in the direction of the now retreating figure. Instantly the man wheeled around and fired back, and a merry fusilade took place for several seconds, but without harm to either party. The man then ran from one shed to the other and made his escape.

About half an hour later, Capt. Flowers was turning the corner at Williams's warehouse, on his way home, when a man on a bicycle suddenly darted past him and went head over heels into the ditch. There was no lantern on the bicycle and Capt. Flowers hurried up to see who the rider was, but before he could reach the spot the man was up and gone. He followed as swiftly as he could, shouting to the rider to stop, but it only tended to make the man, who was an expert bicyclist, ride the faster. As the fugitive passed under the light where the C. F. & Y. V. crosses Hay street, Capt. Flowers recognized him as his antagonist of half an hour previous, but he was then well out of reach. He rode at a terrific pace past the old C. F. & Y. V. Railroad offices, turned down Maiden Lane and then down the steep hill that leads to the Gas House. At the bottom of this hill he was seen to fall into the ditch by Mr. Carl Ledbetter, who hurried up to find out what was the matter, but at his approach the man fled leaving the bicycle.

Fayetteville Capital Reaching Out.

The Wilmington Messenger of recent date thus speaks of an enterprise in that city which our townsman, Mr. R. M. Nimocks, has started to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the trucking bussiness in Eastern Carolina:

Contractor Geo. W. Potter expects in a few days to complete the additions to the building on Chestnut street between Tenth and Eleventh streets, formerly Mr. J. C. Stout's door, sash and blind factory, but soon to be used for the barrel factory and veneer works of the Nimocks Manufacturing company. The building is a two story frame structure and when the frame is completed will be 66 by 72 feet in size, exclusive of a shed that is 60 by 90 feet. The machinery for the factory will be of the very best pattern, and it will all be up and ready for operation in ten days. Mr. E. M. Wells is to be the general manager and will hove his office at the factory. From fifty to seventy-five men, women and boys are to be employed and Mr. Wells is now engaging them for the work. The factory will be equipped for the manufacture of barrels of all sorts, and a specialty will be made on spirit casks of superior merit in several particulars. In the veneer department, vegetable barrels and crates, cherry baskets and butter plates will be manufactured on a large scale. We understand that the company has orders for thirty thousand truck barrels, to be furnished by the 15th of April.

A New Residence on Dick Street.

Misses Annie and Maggie Ellyson, have had a beautiful little cottage built on Dick street.

An Afternoon in the Country.

Mr. Andrew Broadfoot, who is a successful as well as an enthusiastic trucker and horticulturist, with a well-founded belief in a bright future for those industries hereabouts, took the writer into the country the other afternoon in order to demonstrate that the town was by no means monopolizing all the progress in Cumberland. The objective point was Mr. Breece's place, five miles north of the city. Here Mr. Breece has in fruit trees and vines and berry bushes and plants 20 acres of the ordinary upland of that neighborhood, which is called "poor land"—a dull lead-colored soil with a sickly yellowish cast; but it is evidently anything else, if we are to judge by results. One has only to see this well-kept place to be convinced. Rows upon rows are here of every kind of apple, peach, pear, cherry, plum, nectarine and apricot trees; English, Japanese and Persian walnuts, chestnuts and pecans; strawberries, dewberries, blackberries and raspberries and grapes of many kinds—not forgetting Mr. Breece's famous Japanese persimmon, which grows a fruit as large as a tea-cup that fetches 7 to 15 cents apiece in the Northern markets.

Mr. Breece is in the successful prosecution of a business which he began some score of years ago. He ships every season to New York large quantities of the different berries and fruits mentioned and gets good prices for them. He has also established quite a reputation as a nurseryman, and is in the habit of receiving orders for some of his specialties from all parts of the Union. Among these are some remarkably fine raspberries, cherries and plums of his own propagation. His garnet plum and Critie grape, which he has propagated, have received the highest praise from the Pomological Department in Washington—See page 293, Report of 1893.

On the way out to this place of the revelation of Cumberland horticulture, the route chosen lay through Myrtle Hill and Pine Park, the Strange and Mallett places lately purchased by our New York friends, the Cochranes, and thrown into one by a well engineered roadway (the work of Mr. Robert Strange, C. E.) opened around the Eastern front of the Tokay bluffs and spanning the deep ravine that separated Tokay and Pine Park by a substantial bridge. Great improvements have already been made by the new owners on both these places, the old homestead of Judge Strange, which Mrs. Cochrane occupies on her visits, being especially beautiful as now restored. An interesting feature of the latter is a redoubt which faces the house from the South and which, thirty years ago, formed the extreme right of the outer line of defences of Fayetteville when the armies of Johnston and Sherman made this the theatre of war. Tokay, of course, is ever beautiful, and makes a brave show with its vine-covered crests overlooking the rich Cape Fear Valley lands, which Mr. Sam Strange, Mrs. Cochrane's agent, is putting in a fine state of preparation for planting.

In the immediate neighborhood of Mr. Breece are Messrs. John P. McLean and M. Bill, who are successful truckers and horticulturists—one an old Confederate soldier, to the manner born; the other an Englishman, who was formerly in the beer-bottling business in Norfolk, England, and later in this city, and has found profit and contentment cultivating his own vine and figtree in the sandhills of Cumberland.

The OBSERVER proposes to make other incursions into this domain, of which due accounts will appear from time to time. Meanwhile, let our young people and others direct their buggy rides to Mr. Breece's interesting place, where they will always find a warm welcome, and to the other seats of this promising industry, whose owners will no doubt be as hospitably inclined as he.

People and their Movements.

Mr. Thos. M. Rose spent Sunday in the city.

Mrs. Cochran, of New York, is at Myrtle Hill.

Mr. Berry Gleaves was in the city last week.

Mrs. McKay McKinnon is visiting Mrs. W. L. Hawley.

Editor McDiarmid of the Robesonian was in the city yesterday.

Mr. George Underwood made a business trip to Bennettsville Tuesday.

Mr. S. H. MacRae returned last week from a business trip to New York.

Miss Bert Watson is visiting relatives in New York and Orange, New Jersey.

Mr. J. D. Church the well-known insurance man of Charlotte, is in the city.

We are glad to see Mr. W. F. Leak out again after a severe attack of the Grippe.

Mr. W. H. Pope who has been quite sick with the grippe, is again able to be out.

Messrs. P. L. Breeden and D. D. McCall, of Bennettsville, were in the city last week.

Mr. Thos. T. Oliver, a very popular commercial traveller, was on our streets last week.

Mrs. W. H. Pemberton, of Wilmington, spent yesterday with Col. Pemberton's family.

Mr. H. McD. Robinson argued two important cases before the Supreme Court at Raleigh, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwathmey, of New York, are visiting the family of Mr. Jno. D. Williams on Haymount.

Mr. Henry Blount, of Wilson, was in the city Saturday, and we are glad to learn is prospering in the lecture field.

Mr. E. H. Jennings and family will make Fayetteville their home. It is a source of gratification to the whole community that these charming people are again with us.

Mr. E. F. Street and his son, Mr. E. F. Street, Jr., have returned to Baltimore, both gentlemen having accepted positions in the Billiard manufacturing business. We are sorry to part with these gentlemen, who were good citizens and who, during their residence of nearly a year in this city, have made many friends. Success to them.

Maj. McKethan will write the history of the 51st Regiment.

The general deportment and scholarship for the month has been good. The following students have their names on the "Roll of Honor" for meritorious conduct, viz: W. S. Kelly, Cora M. Wilkins, Katie Elliott, George Barnes, Della F. Jordan, Annie Minter, Charles Carver, Emma Gill, Maggie Williams, Leonidas White, Janie F. Williams, William McDaniel, Maggie Kelly, Maggie Moore, A. N. Scurlock and Hattie L. Hogans.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. H. WILLIAMS, Principal.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a called meeting of Clarendon Lodge, No. 143, held March 25th, 1895, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our late brother, A. J. Pemberton, and whereas it is but just that we, his brother Odd Fellows, should express some fitting recognition of his many virtues, therefore be it resolved by Clarendon Lodge, No. 143, I. O. O. F., that while we bow with humble submission to the Most High, we do not the less mourn for our brother who has been taken so suddenly from us.

Resolved, that in the death of A. J. Pemberton this Lodge laments the loss of a brother who was ever ready to proffer the hand of aid and the voice of sympathy to the needy and distressed of this fraternity; an active member of this society, whose utmost endeavors were exerted for its welfare and prosperity; a friend and companion, who was dear to us all; a citizen, whose upright and noble life was a standard of emulation to his fellows.

Resolved, that the heartfelt sympathy of this Lodge be extended to his family in their affliction.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Lodge and a copy thereof be transmitted to the family of our deceased brother, and a copy each to our city papers with a request to publish the same.

Resolved, that the usual badge of mourning be worn for thirty days.

A. B. WILLIAMS,
C. J. AHEARN,
J. E. GARRETT,
Committee.

At a meeting of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, held on Monday evening last, the following preamble and resolutions were reported and unanimously adopted:

"The hand of the reaper
Takes the ears that are hoary,
But the voice of the weeper
Wails manhood in glory."

Sunday morning, 24th March, 1895, broke in cloudless beauty o'er the earth, but its brightness was not sufficient to dispel the gloom that fell over this community, at the announcement that, with its early hours, the life of A. Jennings Pemberton had gone out. Had the stroke fallen on one whose head had grown grey with age, it would have been less severe for "the old must die;" but young, active, in the vigor of manhood, with hopes for the future, bounding high, the grass has withered, ere touched by the noonday sun, and the sad truth is again impressed upon us that "the young may die." "The sun has gone down, while it is yet day," and we are left to grope in the darkness, striving to understand the providence that afflicts us.

The blow has fallen heavily upon this organization that he so much loved, and while we know that, in the presence of such an affliction as this words are but meaningless sounds, still, as comrades in arms, we would in our feeble way give utterance to our feelings: Therefore be it resolved,

1st. That, in the death of A. Jennings Pemberton, this Company has lost one who was ever ready to maintain the honor and proud prestige that has been so nobly won.

2nd. That in order that those who will come after us, and will take our places, may know of him and remember him as we shall, that a page in our record book be dedicated to his memory, with his name, the date of his birth and the date of his death.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the stricken family and that they be published in the "Fayetteville Observer."

N. B. ALEXANDER,
W. B. LEDBETTER,
B. R. HUSKE,
Committee.

A BILL

To be Entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Fayetteville to Establish and Operate a System of Electric Lights and Motive Power."

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That the City of Fayetteville be, and is hereby authorized and empowered to purchase, hold, erect and establish all necessary land, works and machinery, wherewith to furnish electric lights and motive power for the use of the city and its citizens, and for persons living in its suburbs.

Section 2. For the foregoing purposes it shall be lawful for the said City of Fayetteville to issue and sell, at a price not less than par, the coupon bonds of said City to the amount of Ten Thousand ($10,000) Dollars, said bonds to be in denominations of One Hundred ($100) Dollars and Five Hundred ($500) Dollars and to run for a period of thirty years from the issue of the same, and to bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year after their issue.

Section 3. Said coupon bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and Secretary of The City of Fayetteville, and it shall be the duty of said Secretary to keep an accurate account of the same.

Section 4. The coupons of said bonds shall be receivable by the Tax Collector and Treasurer of The City of Fayetteville in payment of taxes and all dues to the City.

Section 5 That it shall be lawful for the said City of Fayetteville in addition to lighting the streets and public buildings of the city, to provide lights and motive power for private use at such rentals as may be agreed upon, and the receipts arising from said rents shall be specially kept by the Treasurer of said city, and shall be applied to the payment of the interest on said bonds as the coupons may fall due, and to the further purpose of creating a sinking fund of three hundred ($300) dollars per annum, which sinking fund of three hundred ($300) dollars it shall be the duty of the authorities of said city to lay aside annually from any funds in the Treasury, and any surplus from said rentals in excess of the amount sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and the sinking fund above provided for, shall be applied to the payment of the operating expenses of the plant; and any deficiency in the amount necessary for the payment of either interest, the sinking fund, or the operating expenses of said system of Electric Lights and Motive Power, shall be paid from the current tax receipts of said city and shall be charged as necessary light expense. Should there be any excess from private rentals over the amount necessary to pay said interest, the sinking fund and the operating expenses, such excess shall be used for the payment of the ordinary expenses and liabilities of the city.

Section 6. All administrators, executors and guardians and other persons acting in a fiduciary capacity are hereby authorized and empowered to invest the funds entrusted to them in said bonds.

Section 7. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Section 8 It shall be the duty of the Mayor of the City of Fayetteville, within twenty days after the ratification of this Act, to publish this Act in full for a period of thirty days in some newspaper published in the City of Fayetteville and at the same time and in the same newspaper to give notice of an election to be held at the Market House in said City on a day to be specified in said advertisement, for the purpose of approving or disapproving this Act by a popular vote.

Section 9. The Board of Aldermen of the City of Fayetteville shall appoint a Registrar of the voters of said The City of Fayetteville who shall register such citizens of said City as are not at present registered, and who would be entitled to vote at this election; and shall cause such publication and notices to be given as are provided by Section 7 of Chapter 153 of the Private Laws of 1893.

Section 10. The duties of the Registrar, so to be appointed, the Registration and the oath of electors shall be as provided by Sections, 8, 9 and 10 of Chapter 153 of said Private Laws of 1893.

Section 11. The Board of Aldermen of said City shall appoint two judges of election to hold said election and the duties and powers and qualifications of said judges of election shall be the same as are provided by said Chapter 153 of the Private Laws of 1893; and all matters and questions as to the election herein provided for shall be determined according to the provisions of Chapter 153 of the Private Laws of 1893, Sections 7 to 14 inclusive of both.

Section 12 The ballots to be used at the election herein provided for shall be upon white paper and without device and shall contain the words "Bonds" or "No Bonds."

Section 13. This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification by a majority of the qualified voters of the City of Fayetteville voting "Bonds."

Ratified the 9th day of March, A. D., 1895.

The Use of Money in Elections.

A recent New Haven telegram says:

Connecticut politicians are discussing a letter written by ex-Gov. Thomas M. Waller of New-London, which was made public to-day. The letter is in reply to statements made before the Judiciary Committee of the Connecticut General Assembly during the last week. The Judiciary Committee was at the time having a hearing on several proposed laws for a corrupt practices act to remedy the evil of corruption in Connecticut elections.

Prof. J. J. McCook of Trinity College, Hartford, was addressing the committee in favor of a corrupt practices act and called the committee's attention to the statement, made two years ago by ex-Gov. Waller to the joint standing committee on the Judiciary, that he knew that $100,000 had been sent into Connecticut by the National Democratic Committee in the Presidential campaign of 1892, and that as much more probably had been sent into the State by the Republicans, and that a great deal of that sum must have been used wrongfully in the election. There was some doubt expressed by the present Judiciary Committee as to the statement made by ex-Gov. Waller, but Prof. McCook said that he believed every word of the charges made by the Governor. In a lecture here last night in the University Extension Course, Prof. McCook, who was lecturing on "Some Pathological Aspects of Some Social Topics," read the Governor's letter, as follows:

45 Wall Street.
New York, Feb. 20.

My Dear Sir:—My attention has been called to your remarks yesterday before the Judiciary Committee in the Capitol, in regard to corrupt elections in Connecticut, and also to the allusion by you and others to my statement made two years ago that there was spent in the Presidential campaign of 1892 in our State more than $100,000 by Democrats, and probably as much more by the Republicans, and that two-thirds, if not more, of those amounts were expended in ways that would not be approved of in a corrupt practices act or approved of by the great body of either of the political parties.

I did not make that statement without deliberation or without knowledge, and if the General Assembly organizes a Lexow committee, of which, I think, we have need, to investigate the evil in question, I will undertake to prove before that tribunal to the satisfaction of everybody, and out of the months of State and local committeemen, too, that the sums I said were expended were altogether too small and that the portion of such sums that I have said was devoted to legitimate purposes was altogether too large.

I am satisfied that you did not overstate in your Forum article the proportion of voters in our State who are directly or indirectly bought or corrupted at every important election.

And, while I am not a reformer or a Mugwump, but only a Democrat, and not as good as my party, either, I am in full sympathy with you and all others who are fighting against the inordinate and dishonest use of money at the polls in Connecticut. For, if this evil is not checked, legislators will soon be bought and sold as voters now are, and men who want to be Governors and Senators, and who could not obtain such positions otherwise will only have to furnish the managers with money enough to acquire all the honors they covet.

I have always been opposed to the use of money at elections as a citizen, if not as a moralist, and I am opposed to it still.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. WALLER.

Manchester Cullings.

We have never been "Tacky" until last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Clark gave an elegant entertainment, delicious supper, etc., and invited guest from Jonesboro, Spout Spring and the countryside. An on-looker would have been surprised to see so many "Tackys" assembled in such a nice home. Dr. F. M. Register was the king of the "Tacks" and Miss Fannie Clarke, Jr. 1st, was queen. Everybody enjoyed themselves if only for the fun of it.

Mr. McKelway attracted our fairest sinners twice to his services at Spout Spring.

Misses Kate Underwood and Eliza Williams have been visiting Montrose. Miss Katie was called suddenly home by sickness in the family.

Mrs. M. D. Clarke and Mrs. J. G. McNatt have been down in Harnett, over the worst roads on mud. Everybody cheerful, plenty of corn and meat, and prospects bright.

We hear of a large enterprise for Manchester, and we do not usually assume the role of "doubting Thomas", but it sounds too good to be true.

Capt. A. B. Williams came out Monday on dam business.

Master Charlie Clarke is very sick—have had Drs. McDuffie and Register attending him.

Mrs. D. Fairley and Miss Nannie have gone to Wilmington to spend a few weeks as the guest of Mrs. Alex. Sprunt.

BON AMI.

American Cities a Hundred Years Ago.

New York Post.

When Washington was inaugurated, Philadelphia, then the metropolis of the country, had only about 42,000 people, New York but 33,000, Boston 18,000, Baltimore 13,000 and no other city anywhere near 10,000. Even after the lapse of half a century, during which New York had overtaken Philadelphia, so that in 1840 it had 312,000 inhabitants to the latter city's 258,000, Baltimore and New Orleans were the only other places with more than 100,000 people, and except Boston, with 93,000, all of the few remaining cities fell short of 50,000. During the formative period of the new nation, therefore, all but the merest fraction of its citizens lived in places of small population, the local affairs of which were easily administered through town meetings or other such simple machinery.

THE POOR SYNDICATERS

Assistant Secretary Curtis at the N. Y. Democratic Club.

"The members of the syndicate that took these bonds were panic-stricken, as was all Wall street. They were not ready to take any more risk than anybody else was. They simply wanted to protect themselves beyond peradventure. I do not think that there is anything needed to support the position of the government, except the plain facts that have marked the situation of affairs since the bond issue. We have restored the confidence of our own people and the people abroad as to the ability of the United States to continue specie payments."

Is this young man a knave or a fool?

Devils and Devils.

According to Cardan, a mediæval writer, the air is full of devils who feed on human souls. It will not do to be hasty in judging such theories by the extreme absurdity of their appearance, for Paracelsus asserted that the entire air is full of devils who are too small to be seen. He declared that these same devils are responsible for all human diseases. And so say all our doctors now. Only they call them microbes instead of devils, which may not make much real difference after all.

American sheep last year grew wool to the extent of 307,100,000.
